Smuggler-Union Miners Supposed to Be Dead-Attempts at Search of the Mine are Baffled.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.)

TELLURIDE (Colo.) Nov. 21.—The developments today in the Smuggler-Union mine disaster have not helped to remove the doubt as to the number of victims, and at a late hour tonight it seems unlikely that the exact number will be known for several hours. As yet, the list remains the same as last night, twenty-two dead and one in a precarious condition from inhaling the deadly gas and smoke drawn into the mine from the burning buildings about the mouth of the Bullion tunnel.

It is possible that a search of the ninth level, which is still in part in accessible on account of the gas, will reveal the bodies of other victims, but a party headed by Superintendent Ed.

It is possible that a search of the ininth level, which is still in part inaccessible on account of the gas, will reveal the bodies of other victims, but reveal the bodies of other victims, but a party headed by Superintendent Edgar Collins this afternoon went through all the other portions of the mine, and found no more bodies. The unexplored portion of the ninth level is about five hundred feet in length. It will not be safe to enter this part of the drift before tomorrow morning, and

Superintendent Collins said tonight that he did not believe the death roll would be increased by more than one or two, and possibly not at all. It is said two or three men are missing, but it is not certain. The men are mostly foreigners, and many of them did not report after making their escape from the mine. It was only by the most careful searching that many of the survivors were located.

The work of clearing away the debris of the burned buildings and repairing the tramway has already begun, but it is said that it will be some time before the mine can be reopened.

The funeral of the victims will be held Saturday afternoon. Mayor Higenhaus

WRAPPED IN FLAMES.

TELLURIDE (Colo.) Neve 2h.—The fire in the Smuggler-Union mine in Marshall Basin broke out in the tramway bunkhouse at the mouth of the Buillon tunnel, the principal opening from which the property is worked, and spread rapidly to the boiler and engine-house, blacksmith shop and the tramway terminal, with its great ore bins, and several smaller buildings were all soon wrapped in fiames. A strong draft drew the smoke from the burner, buildings directly into the tunnel, and the miles of drifts, upraises and stopes connecting with it began to fill rapidly with the smoke.

In the excitement of trying to control the fire in the outside buildings the mine was forgotten, and before the situation was realized, the workings were fast filling with dense smoke. By that time the buildings about the

Every few minutes men make a rush inside, only to crawl back helpless and strangling, as they meet the foul smoke which fills the tunnels and levels. The officers of the company refuse to talk, either in giving information or in expressing opinions as to the likelihood of early rescue of the unfortunates yet in the mine. They will only say that the work will be continued until everybody has been recovered, and will be hastened in the hope that many may be found alive.

The seventh level is 1750 feet below the surface, and the ninth level, where between seventy-five and ninety miners were working when the fire occurred, is 2000 feet below the surface. At last accounts, all attempts to explore this level had been frustrated by the smoke. Seventeen of the twenty-two bodies recovered were found in the seventh level. The fire did not penetrate the mine workings, and the frightful loss of life was due entirely to smoke.

The mine was originally owned by a company, of which John Porter of this city was the president, and A. H. Fowler secretary and treasurer. About two years ago, the mine, with a number of others in the same locality, was absorbed by the New England Exploration Company, of which J. B. Lawrence is now the head and one of the principal stockholders. The New England company is controlled by Boston capitalists.

RESCUE WORK.

[BT THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) Nov. 21.—A special to the Post from Telluride, Colo. says the work of rescuing bodies of miners who were suffocated to death in the Smuggler-Union mine yesterday was resumed at 9 o'clock this morning. The searching parties were unable to work last night, owing to the dense volumes of sulphur gas which permeated every portion of the cighteen miles of underground workings. It is certain that every man who was imprisoned in the mine is dead. No fliving being could exist in this awful sulphur fumes for more than a few minutes.

The work of bringing down the bodies of the victims was slow and laborious, the steep trail making it very difficult to carry the hodies. The bodies were placed upon improvised exercises and then raised upon the choulders of twelve stalwart minera and brought to the Coroner's office, where they were laid out in rows. sacrificed their lives in a vain attempt to save the lives of their mine associ-ctes. They had ample warning of the fire, and could easily have escaped free, and could easily have escaped from the tunnel. Instead, they went back into the workings to spread the alarm. They succeeded probably in warning only very few of the men in the mine before they themselves were overcome by the deadly sulphur fumes. The Coroner will hold an inquest upon but one body, the verdict in this case being deemed sufficient to cover all of the casualties.

A large crowd began gathering at the Smuggier-Union mine early this morning, every man volunteering to join the rescue parties. Only the most experienced miners had been chosen for this dangerous work, and up to 3 o'clock those selected were busy mak-ing preparations to safeguard them. SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. AN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—[Exclassed bispatch.] About one thousand delegates from California counties and all Pacific Coast States met here today in convention at Metropolitan Hall to make protest against the threatened repeal of the Geary Chinese Exclusion Act. Former Congressman Thomas J. Geary, father of the Exclu-

Exclusion Act. Former Congressman Thomas J. Geary, father of the Exclusion Act, was chosen chairman, and H. A. Mason, secretary. All labor unions were represented by delegates, and all Coast States sent prominent men to speak for them.

Mayor Phelan opened the convention, and delivered a strong address on the dangers that threatened California and the Coast, should the present restriction act be repealed. He read telegrams from the Governors of Oregon, Washington, Montana and Nevada, warmily indorsing the plan to appeal to Congress for reenactment of the Geary law.

Chairman Geary, in an able speech pointed out the dangers that would result to the State as well-as the whole Coast, should Congress decide to let down the bare and permit thousands of Chinese coolies to swarm in. There is a strong sentiment among many delegrates in favor of excluding Japanese coolies, as they have invaded many districts and proved strong competitors of women and children in fruit picking and packing. It is not though, however, that the majority will sanction such legislation, as the Japanese conform more readily to American laws that Chinese, and most of them are of a better class than the Cantonse coolies, and most of them are of a better class than the Cantonse coolies, and most of them are of a better class than the Cantonse coolies, and most of them are of a better class than the Cantonse coolies, and most of them are of a better class than the Cantonse coolies, and most of them are of a better class than the Cantonse coolies, and most of them are of a better class than the Cantonse coolies, and most of them are of a better class than the Cantonse coolies, and most of them are of a better class than the Cantonse coolies.

He declared the Japanese to be the equals of Americans, and asserted that we got more from Japan than we gave in return. He said Japan would bitterly resent the insuit of exclusion, and the resentment would be feit immediately in American trace. It is expected that a strong memorial to Congress in favor of the reënactment of the exclusion law will be adopted tomorrow by the convention.

On entering the hall, each delegate was met by a couple of young Japanese, who handed out large circulars, signed by the editor of the Japan Tribune, a local publication.

This circular was entitled, "An appeal to American sense and reason," and was in the nature of a petition to delegates, asking them to omit any action pertaining to the exclusion of Japanese. Upon the conclusion of his address, Mayor Phelan called for nominations for temporary chairman. Mayor Snyder of Los Angeles, Mayor Phelan and Hon. T. J. Geary were named. Mayor Snyder and Phelan withdrew in favor of Geary, who was chosen by acelamation. The audience gave Geary is rousing reception when he took the platform. He said:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The German view of American administration in the Philippines is set out in a circular recently issued by the German cular recently issued by the German Central Bureau for the preparation of commercial treaties, a copy of which circular has been forwarded to the State Department by Deputy Consul-General Hanquer, at Frankfort, under date of October 26. Hanquer says that the German press has watched our movements in our new possessions with an eye inclined to be critical, but no voice has been raised as to the beneficial change offered in the condition of the Philippines by American rule, The circular says:

the Philippines by American rule. The circular says:

"Although the pacification of the Philippine archipelago has not yet been fully established, the accounts of its economic development are so favorable that it cannot be too strongly urged upon German exporters to give particular attention to this group of islands. The testimony cannot be withheld that the American administration of affairs in the Philippines has, as far as economic betterment of the country is concerned, already achieved extraordinary success.

"In 1894, which was the last year of peaceful conditions while under Span-ish rule, the Philippines imports reached $23,500,000. The exports were $33,100,000, Mexican, in value. Under American rule, the imports increased in 1898 to $40,900,000, and in 1800 to $35,-500,000, Mexican, and the exports to $35,500,000 and $53,500,000, respectively. Indians Claim the Right to Kill a Witch-Woman Kills Half-brother.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The hearing of the oil-reight-rate case was held today before the Railroad Commissioners. This resaring was granted by the commissioners October 25, following a decision of the research of the religions of the relig sieners October 23, following a decision of October 8 adverse to the railroads, which were required by that decision to give a rate of 37.5 cents a barrel, instead of 42 cents, for transporting oil over 314 miles between Bakersfield and San Francisco. Judge Short of Freanorepresented the oil producers, and the Southern Pacific was represented by Herrin.

represented the oil producers, and the Southern Pacific was represented by Herrin.

The witnesses, without exception, testified that a reduction of the freight rates on oil would be beneficial to the oil producers, and none of their testimony was materially shaken on cross-examination by Herrin. The day was not favorable to the railroad.

The most important witness was T. Spellacy, an oil producer of Bakersfield, who held that a reduction of the freight on oil for delivery to the consumer, the producer relling his oil at 50 cents a barrel at the wells, which was the minimum at which he could sell it there and make a fair profit and live, would enable him to put it before the consumer at a figure sufficiently low to widen the market and increase the output. He believed if oil could be sold in the market for 20, 30 or 75 cents a larrel, manufacturers, finding cheap fuel thus available, would be attracted to the State and set up their plants. On this point Herrin undertook to assult the witness's capability, demanding that he name specific instances of manufacture which would be attracted by cheap fuel in the shape, it is form of manufacture which would be attracted by cheap fuel in the shape, it is form of manufacture which would be attracted by cheap fuel in the shape, it is form of manufacture which would be attracted by cheap fuel in the shape, it is form of manufacture which would be attracted by cheap fuel in the shape, it is form of manufacture which would be attracted by cheap fuel in the shape, it is form of manufacture of full manufacture which would be attracted by cheap fuel in the shape, it is form of manufacture of in the shape of a stray milk ser.

The plotters, according to the Times, anticipated no trouble in getting together men enough to overpower the mounted police at different towns in the interior. The raid was to be started on the border, and as fast as a town was overpowered a revolutionary government was to be installed. Local officials were to be seized, and held as hostages. The raid was to be started immediately after the close of navigation, and the telegraph lines to Dawson were to be cut in a dozen places. The leaders are said to have believed that the Canadian government would be months in getting in men, and would have been compelled to make terms with the insurgents before they laid down their arms. The conspiracy is said to be dead, owing to the publication of its secrets.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The Mail and Express today prints the following interview with Governor-elect A. B. Cummins of Iowa with respect to the possible results of the joint control of western railways through the Northern Securities Company. He said:

"I do not believe there will be organized epposition in Iowa to the proposed combination of western roads. There is a wide difference in our State as to the result of the consolidation. While it is recognized that the movement places a greater power in a few hands, it is recognized also that power may be used for the people's good as well as to their detriment. It is click that it will eliminate cutting of ates, rebates to large shippers and tive steadiness to the transportation charges.

"On the other hand, the consolidation."

of the movement a power that contains the elements of peril. If it is used to reduce the accommodation of the lines uce the accommodation of the inne-solidated, to raise their rates and rease facilities for shippers and sengers in order to economize, there decrease facilities for shippers and passengers in order to economize, there is no doubt the people will be prompt in taking such recourse as is in their power. This would probably assume the form of lawsuits and legislative action. If, however, the railroads in the consolidated lines use their large powers wisely, I see no reason for them to apprehend any trouble in lows."

Chamberiain, through his secretary, has replied to interrogatories by some correspondent here of continental newspapers in England in regard to the expressions he used in the speech for which he is being criticised. The Colonial Secretary says that when, in order to justify the severer measures which were to be adopted in the Boer war, he made reference to the action of other nations, he had not meant that the severity was authenticated by official histories and went beyond what was just and necessary. What he did mean was that what is just and proper for other nations cannot be barbarous and inhuman on the part of Great Britain.

MURDER OF HER BABE. Charge on Which Mrs. Elizabeth Dale

Was Arraigned in Hoboken-Prisoner Squited in Court. DI BUE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]
NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Elizabeth Dale of Chicago, who was arrested last night in Hoboken, accused of the murder of her five-year-old daughter, Emeline, was arraigned today in Hoboken before Recorder Stanton.

day in Hoboken before Recorder Stanton.

Mrs. Dale, pale and haggard, was led by two officers into court. She was visibly nervous, her mouth twitched, and she clutched the arm of her chair with a vise-like grip.

She is of the blonde type, rather good looking, but appears a few years older than M, the age she gave. Her small figure trembled violently as the clerk read the grave charge against her. When she heard the word "murder" her head fell back, and she clutched the arm of her lawyer, who occupied a seat next to her.

She called out faintly that she was ill, asked that a physician be sent for, and then fainted. She was revived after a minute or two, and was able then to answer the few formal questions regarding her nativity and name.

Police Cant. Bains asked that the

CLEW FOUND AT DOWNEY

Arrest Likely Today in Murder Case.

Officers Say They are on the Trail.

Victims of the Horror Laid in the Grave Yesterday-"Doc" Talks.

"Within twenty-four hours," said a detective working on the Downey murder case yesterday, "I think we will have a sensation for you. I won't say who is suspected, but I think that we can lay hands on him, wherever he is." Nearly all the officers working on the case admit that a definite clew has been struck.

about haif a mile from the witcos, obouse. There, I believe, he was met by another person.

"I think the murderer is some one who was well acquainted with the family and their habits.

"as to the murder itself, I believe hat it was committed early Saturday ight. My investigations would lead no to believe that the murderer encred through the back door of the unmer kitchen instead of the front loor, as has been supposed.

"I think that the family were at upper at the time, and that Mrs. Willow, was standing at the kitchen stova. The murderer must have commenced tring before she could turn. The first hing she knew of his presence was shen he threw open the door, and pressing the gun close to her side, fired. Fertaps he came in very stealthly through the back room, listening as he was Standing so near the boot that he could have reached out and sut the revolver to her side.

"Boot was, as I figure it out, sitting best over in his chair near the door, residing. He must have straightened up just in time to get that shot in the groin.

Thes the struggle began. Wilcox night. He must have kept his hands clean."

All Wednesday night detectives watched the house. It is evident that they expected some one to come back for something. If anything has been found about the place that he would come back for, the detectives are keeping it strictly to themselves.

Bud Lewis and his son, Bert, went over all the effects of the dead woman Wednesday night. Insurance papers were found among the papers of Wilcox, but nothing of significance was found among the papers of Mrs. Wilcox, except the photograph of a manwhom none of them recognized. It was a modern style of photograph.

WAS IT A MANIAC?

WAS IT A MANIACT An old bachelor who lives alone in the neighborhood of the tragedy got a terrible fright night before last. He says that he woke up in the dead of night and heard someone rattling about the windows of his room trying to effect an entrance. He says that he lay still and heard fingers fumbling about the shutters. At last the sound will surely return to the scene of the slaughter, drawn by some sort of an evil instinct.

The theory of a maniac is the most horrible view of the case that could be taken. It is frightful to imagine the scene.

In your mind's eye, you can see the crouching, wild-eyed figure with face pressed close to the glass of one of the windows of the little kitchen, peering in out of the darkness with herrid interest in the evening meal.

He must have come stealing around with a footfall softened by cunning until it was like a cat's. One can see him waiting at the door and peeking in at the crack, with the twitching sagerness of the imane, and see the demon light in eyes. The blaughter must have a very fury of madness.

Lastly, what could have been more ghastly than the way he stopped amid his butchery with the three bodies lying crushed and torn and beaten, to lead his revolver again.

THEY SUSFECT BUD LEWIS.

There are only a few in Downey who take stock in this theory. Most of them believe that the crime was committed by Bud Lewis. He has been the village scapegoat so long that they are willing to believe anything of him.

Every reputable citizen is able to tell exactly how it happened. You so into a bakery and you get a theory with every loaf; a dry goods store and a hypothesis with every focted in the blackmith.

SHERIFF'S FORCE WORKING.

The Sheriff's office is hard at work on the case, but Mr. Hammel had nothing to give out yesterday beyond the explosion of several theories and things.

Yesterday he heard definite news of "Doc," the ranch hand, who worked for a time on the Wilcox ranch, and who left Loa Angeles on the 16th inst. for Randsburg. He is now in that city, and the Sheriff is satisfied he had no connection with the crime. According to a telegram received yesterday from a Constable at Randsburg. Brunts has not yet gone to work.

The Sheriff has found the addresses of two brothers of Wilcox; one of them, O. P. Wilcox, lives at Montelth, lowa, and in response to a telegram advising him of the murder, he has asked for particulars. The other brother, L. L. Wilcox, lives at Mission, Wash, which is not a telegraph station. The Sheriff has forwarded to these relatives copies of the local papers with accounts of the crime.

It has been learned that the pocket-knife with a blood-incrusted blade, found on the dining table by a Constable, belonged to Wilcox, and was taken from his pocket by the Coroner, who used it in extracting a bullet from the skull of the murdered infant.

VICTIMS BURIED.

The funeral of Abram P. Wilcox, his wife and two-year-old child was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the undertaking rooms of Booth & Boylson. Rev. Will A. Knighten conducted the services, preaching a brief sermon. Interment was at Evergreen Cemetery, Wilcox was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and of the Knights of Pythias, and members of those orders acted as pall-bearers. The Knights of Pythias had charge of the services at the cemetery.

"After accomplishing this dreadful utchery," he said, "the murderer must have run out the back door of the house. It was dark by that time, and he bumped into trees and bushes at first. I found the marks of that.

"He then seems to have set a more cautious pace—sort of a shamble, judging from the tracks.

"He went over the back fence near the chicken coop and out through the corn, he made a wide detour to a clump of willows on a road which lies about haif a mile from the Wilcox house. There, I believe, he was met by abother person.

RANDSBURG, Nov. 21.—[Exclus (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
RANDSBURG. Nov. 21.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] I. M. Brunts, known as "Doc," came here last Friday evening. He says he left the Wilcox ranch Monday morning, the lith inst. Wilcox drove him to the station, and on the way up paid him 320 for his work. He has worked for Wilcox more or less for the past six years. He knew them both intimately, and knew nothing against either of them. He does not think Wilcox had much money. He stopped at their rooming-house on Wilmington street for two weeks before he went down to work. He had worked twenty days, but Mrs. Wilcox had only been there the last two or three.

WILCOX FEARED LEWIS. On the way down Wilcox remark

"This is the first trip I have ever made down to the ranch without a gun, as I know Lewis is in jail." "Doo" says he does not know that the Wilcoxes had enemies. So far as he knew Wilcox and his wife had always lived peaceably together. He has no real supposition as to who killed them. Brunts seems to be quite a decent fellow, and is 46 years old. He says if wanted he will come to Los Angeles without being sent for by the officers.

Only Safe Medicine for Babies.

"Concepts are fine for latter with infrasts, in they case book in the becoming billions. I use them daily in my ful, and gave them is our behy bag practice." Dr.A.E. Griffin, Stubbledeld, was three years old.

I found Cascarets, in the case of my be.

—Alice Sewell, oil Eighth St., Sc. B.

Mamma takes a CASCARET, baby gets the benefit. Isn't that good sense? The sweet, palatable Candy Cathartic Cascaret, eaten by the nursing mother, not only regulates her system and increases her flow of milk, but makes her milk mildly purgative. Baby gets the effect diluted and as part of its regular, natural food;—no violence—no danger—perfectly natural results. No more sour curds in baby's stomach, no more wind, colic, restless nights.

According to a review of this book a an English paper, the picture rawn by Mr. Martin is somber in the streme. The villages are being apidly depopulated; the towns are vercrowded with the people driven at of the villages; the misery of the sopie through overcrowding has propered antagonism against all emorphism is accentuated by the gaming and drinking habits of the people. This is quite bad enough; but over remains behind. The nation is duced to dependency upon foreign marties for five-sixths of its food upplies, while the populations are ally kept in employment by continsto the manner in which this of affairs has developed. Mr. tin says that thirty years ago the il districts were in a high state cultivation, occupied by sturdy who knew their business. There ample capital, and the wealth of villages agd their robust popula-constituted national assets which, purposes of defense, were of insiable value, and rendered the som independent and impregnation to be best investments for British rultural land was regarded as one has best investments for British rultural land was regarded as one has best investments for British rultural land was regarded as continuous and precisived in value as an aggly. Now, the rural districts bedly cultivated by a slovenly furness are afflicted with sie poverty, the self-supporting eter of the villages is gone, and altural land is regarded as the possible investment.

or, rather, don't begin it! Surely, there is more than enough wealth, and prosperity, and attractiveness to go around in this, the choicest corner of God's footstool. Let us not fall into the narrow, provincial habit, that is the narrow, provincial habit, that is so common in some sections, of squabbiling among ourselves as to whose particular baby is the prettiest, when all the members of the family are so strong and handsome. Anaheim is all right, and so is Long Beach. Every place in Southern California is all right, outside of the City of Grief. So would that place be, were it not for its fool editors. . . . Huh!

TARIFF AND RECIPROCITY.

It is becoming increasingly probable that there will be no very radical tariff legislation at the forthcoming session of Congress. While strong pressure is sure to be exerted from some sources to present the strong pressure in the strong pressure in the strong pressure is sure to be exerted from the strong target and the strong target in t industrial activity which has continued almost uninterruptedly for the past four years, and which still continues, with no immediate prospect of abatement. While some tariff changes are doubtless desirable, the weight of intelligent public sentiment throughout the country is unquestionably against any attempt in the direction of a general revision of the taris at this time. If revision were once entered upon the doors would be open to all sorts of tariff tinkering, and the end might easily be industrial stagnation, con-

The Anaheim Gazette is up in arms against Long Beach, because it has heard that some of the residents of that attractive seaside resort have been saying assty things about the pleaser German settlement of Orange county in connection with an offer made by a sanitarium company to locate in a Southern California town which offers inducements in the shape of a cash bonus. Long Beach and Anaheim are among the places that have been competing for this institution. Hence these tears. According to the Gazette, the wicked Long Beach and Anaheim are among the places that have been competing for this institution. Hence these tears. According to the Gazette, the wicked Long Beach and filters have been telling the Battle Creak people that they can't grow any fruit or veretables at Anaheim; that they are troubled with dry, dusty winds, and have no water for irrigation. Whereupon the editor of the Gazette rises up indignantly on his hind feet and says:

"Btop this lying about Anaheim! The name of decency, justice and filt-dealing, man to man, we solemnly rootest against this thing!"

benefits are practically all on one sede. In order that the arrangement may be truly reciprocal, the benefits must be mutual.

The thick-and-thin advocates of reciprocity are fond of quoting the words of President McKinley, contained in the great speech which he delivered on the Pan-American Exposition grounds, on the day before he delivered on the Pan-American Exposition grounds, on the day before he delivered on the Pan-American Exposition grounds, on the day before he delivered on the Pan-American Exposition grounds, on the day before he delivered on the president McKinley, contained in the great speech which he delivered on the Pan-American Exposition grounds, on the day before he delivered on the president McKinley, contained in the great speech which he delivered opinion as to what duties are needed. It is not for a moment to be supposed that President Mcklinley contemplated any changes in the tariff which would be disastrous to any domestic indusany changes in the tariff which would be disastrous to any, domestic indus-try. His whole public record on the tariff question brands any such sup-position as absurd. He was one of the foremost protectionists of his time, and had done more than any other one man to build up the splendid fabric of our industrial greatness through a wise application of the policy of tariff protection. It would be an injustice to his memory to suppose that he could consent to or advocate the undermining of the great structure of which he was chief among the builders.

The Republican National Couven-tion of 1900 declared for the "opening of our markets on favorable terms of our markets on favorable terms for what we do not ourselves produce in return for free foreign markets."

This was undoubtedly the underlying idea of President McKinley's references to reciprocity in his Pan-American speech, of which the advocates of free trade are endeavoring to make so much. The recommendation for the establishment of a reciprocity commission is a matter which should these terms are commended to the commission of the second sideration on the part of Congress Such a commission, if composed of

CITY SOLONS GO TO JOSS.

Diplomatic Mission Ends in Failure.

Chinese Decline to Move to New Market.

Councilmen Have a Powwow in Chinatown But With Poor Results.

The inhabitants of local Chinatown are learning a thing or two in diplomacy, so that some of them are refusing to accept at face value the bland assurances of City Councilmen on the public market authorities.

In reference to the gathering, a Chinaman was heard to say: "Crasy Chin Wing alice samee hose. George Lee drives he round alice samee."

ONLY AT FUNERALS.

At 13:30 o'clock, after the Buddhist priest, who officiates only at funerals, had assured the Chinese that it was only a friendly call, the Councilmen were seated before the great joss and commenced pouring tea. As the aroma of the infused herb stole through the apartment the visiting solons drew from their pockets are which they

At that point in the visiting sole speech a Chinese objected, saying this fellow-countrymen could not their produce at that place.

BEFORE THE JOSS.

The gentlemen present then and there before the great and good joss promised that if the Chinese would only go and try the new market for one month, and did not succeed in selling their truck at that place they could go out on the street and peddle at any place they pleased without paying a peddler's license. It was also said to the Chinese that there was a large number of their countrymen pedding in Los Angeles without a license and that they (the peddlers) had not been troubled by the city authorities. It was urged that if the Chinese would only go and try the new city market the city authorities would do mything for them.

"So say we all of us without mental reservation before the great and mighty joss of the Kong Chows, who ruleth all things in the heavens above and in the earth beneath." is what the Chinese present understood the Councilmen to declare.

The principal ones present were the great joss. Ah Lauder, Ah Wing, Ah Weiker, Ah Lem. Ah Pierce, Ah Paw and Ah McLain.

The visiting Councilmen finally pergunded Shu Pak Tong and Wong Sam

BULLDOZING SCHEME.

The powwow was adjourned subject to call of the self-constituted committee of three—Ah Lem, Ah Wing and Ah Paw, who, in the interim, were to visit all the Chinese peddlers and attempt to persuade them to patronies the new market, by holding over them the club of the Council's wrath. If they dared longer to disregard the wishes of the "solid six."

Woo Paw is a Chinaman who came to the United States thirty-three years ago, settled in Arisona and married a squaw, by whom he had several childern. He slipped away and left them between two days. One child, a son, who is now located near Capistrano, would very much like to learn of his father's whereabouts. Woo Paw can be found by the initiated harping about No. 325 Marchessault street, where he eats his rice when not playing stool pigeon for Ah Lem.

The presence in Los Angeles of representatives of eastern bond-buying houses is regarded in some quarters as very significant in connection with attorney have exhibited a very wonderful knowledge of eastern bond-buyers, and the circulars sent out have been directed with admirable discretion. It is argued that such knowledge is only possessed by some one familiar with the business, and the exponents of this theory arrive at the conclusion that the eastern bond-buyers have adopted his method of competing Los Angeles to raise the interest rate and thus set an example to other cities that may be contemplating bond issues.

This theory seems entitled to as much consideration as any other, because the interests behind Waldron are still enveloped in mystery.

BRIDGE DIFFICULTY.

OFFICIALS MAKE INSPECTION.

In response to a protest against the plan pursued by the Los Angeles Pacific Railway Company in constructing an overhead crossing at the junction of Sunset and Lake Shore boulevards the Board of Public Works and other city officials yesterday made an inspection of the work. As a result it is by no means probable that the Council will ask the company to change the abutments as asked by the protestants. Besides Councilmen Bowen, Allen and McLain of the board, there were present the City Engineer and Street Superintendent for the city, and President Eli P. Clark and Superintendent D. D. Larrabee of the Los Angeles Pacific Company. The party was equipped with field maps explaining the direction and grade of the streets that center at the bridge, and also the plan of the structure to which objection is made by a few property owners who are interested in the boulevard project. Some months ago an earnest endeavor was made to have the railway company build a bridge to replace the earth embankment where the two boulevards intersect. After several conferences with the Board of Public Works, the officials of the company agreed to spend the necessary money-for the sake of the boulevard romers and promoters of the boulevard project. No objection was made to the plans, and they were seen and discussed by the interested property owners and promoters of the boulevard project. OFFICIALS MAKE INSPECTION.

No objection was made to the plans, and they were sanctioned by the city. The company ordered the necessary cement and stringers, and started to build the bridge across the boulevard. Both abutments were nearly completed when Thomas Kelly, who is associated with Dr. Le Moyne Wills in the ownership of the Montana tract; filed a protest. Before the Board of Public Works last Monday Kelly became very angry, and declared that he would have nothing more to do with the boulevard project unless a chance is made in the bridge.

The objections raised relate to the position of the abutments, which are flush with the curb line. When the plans were drawn it was thought that a plain bridge with two spans would have a better appearance than a trestle bridge. Accordingly, the abutments were put even with the curb lines, or fifty-six feet apart, that being about the maximum distance that could be covered with a bridge of the type intended.

Lake Shore boulevard is eighty feet

As constructed, the bridge will leave ample room for a double-track car line. Spring street is fifty feet wide between curbs, whereas the distance between the abutments is fifty-six feet. The space on each side of the center support is twenty-seven feet, or nearly the width of the Third-street tunnel, which is thirty feet.

As a compromise measure it has been suggested that the company build side-walks back of the abutments by excavating the earth embankment that rises over twelve feet above the level of the street.

President Clark of the Los Angeles Pacific road stated yesterday that the total coat of the bridge will be about $6000. The lumber for the stringers is now on the ground. It was cut to the required length before shipment. There will be a clear space of thirteen feet between the level of the boulevard and the bridge, and the company will furnish an electric light for illuminating free of charge.

COKE OVENS.

GAS COMPANY BUILDING. Today the Eighth Warders will "cry havoc, turn loose the dogs of war!" For the Suburban Gas Company is building coke ovens on St. John street in the name of Mrs. Caroline W. Dob-in the name of Mrs. Caroline W. Dobbins.

The company wanted permission to build storage holders to confine the gas that escapes as a by-product, but the "old residents" said "no, we will have no gas company in our ward." Now the company proposes to go ahead and let the gas escape into the air in accordance with the process that has been in use heretofore.

If the Eighth Warders had rather smell than burn the gas, the company is preparing to satisfy them.

A building permit was taken out by the company some time ago for the construction of coke ovens. The Building Superintendent got an opinion from the City Attorney that there is nothing to prevent the issuance of such a permit. Now the company, acting in the name of Mrs. Dobbins, proposes to use the privilege.

About fifteen tons of coke a day will be the output. The manufacturers in the district are anxious to have the company begin operations because it will make their coke much cheaper. They have supported the efforts of the company to secure a permit to build a gas plant on the property.

board and the Council, and the socation is in the center of the manufacturing district.

Yesterday Councilman Todd of "de Ate" was closeted with the City Attorney for over two hours. He is much exercised at the prospect of having coke ovens in his ward without any arrangement for conserving the gas by-product. He is afraid that some of the "old residents" will move out, and is fighting desperately.

The redoubtable "Bob" and the Mayor always mind their "ps and gs" when the Eighth Ward is excited about anything. The Democratic stronghold does not intend to be overlooked. In this instance, however, some very strong Democratic influences are exerted in favor of the gas plant, and the fight for a permit will not end with the action by the Fire Commission this morning.

The Fighth Ward leaders have morning.

The Eighth Ward leaders have promised a large representation this morning and have demanded the use of the Council chamber for the hearing. The attorneys and agents of the opposition have been working industriously and there may be some amusement if the subject comes to a final issue today.

Engineers Examine Class.

Engineers Examine Class.

Wednesday evening the board of examining engineers, composed of Engineers Frank Rademacher, Owen McAleer and Fred J. Fischer, examined a class of applicants for certificates that will allow them to handle engines in this city. Boiler Inspector J. G. Patterson acted as secretary. Engineers are divided by the local ordinances into four classes, namely, chief, first, second and third class. Applicants were passed as follows: Roderick McKay, chief; R. Y. Mendell, H. G. Nuhu, F. E. George, first class; Napoleon J. Content, E. B. Haines, A. J. Beach, D. Dodsworth, second; E. J. Plath, Robert F. Clinton, third class.

Mayor's Portrait.

Priends of Mayor Snyder have presented him with a picture that is soon to take its place with those of former mayors upon the walls of the commission room. It was painted by W. Cogswell, who has a record for painting famous men. He painted the portrait of President Grant in a family group, and also that of President Lincoln. Many other well-known men have been painted by Mr. Cogswell. The late Albert Jenks intended to paint the picture of Mayor Snyder, but died before consummating his plan. The portrait is 25x30 inches in size and is the gift of twenty-four people. HOW B. DUNCAN USED TO EARN HIS LIVING.

Could also Take in Big Money on Election Bets-Induced to Sign Agreement to Cease Litigating Against His Daughter, Mrs. Lewis.

Unnatural a parent as is ghostly old B. Duncan of the far-famed "evil eye," he has consented at last to stop his everlasting habit of suing his only daughter, Mrs. Katherine D. Lewis, in

Since the death of his wife, the litigious B. has been busy annoying his daughter with lawsuit after lawsuit, all of which have been decided against him by the courts, and have put him on record as a cruel, unconscionable father off the meanest kind. The last of the litigation involving Mrs. Duncan's estate was on for trial in Judge Trask's department of the Superior Court yesterday, wherein Mrs. Lewis was asking that the 188-acre ranch at Redondo, held in the name of her father, be declared to be held merely in trust for her, on the theory that it had been purchased in 1898 with money belonging to her mother.

chased in 1898 with money belonging to her mother.

Mrs. Lewis alleges that during the years from 1887 to 1893 her father, under a deed of trust, sold lands in Kentucky for his wife, valued at $75,000, and afterward invested the same—or some of it—in California realty.

The Redondo ranch, she maintained, was so acquired.

"That is not a signature," was the gruff reply. "I may have said that in a brief. . . . I might say things in a brief which I would not say now under oath."

"I had a great deal; I played whist and won a good deal in that way."

"Did you never lose it?"

"Very rarely."

"How much did you win at whist?"

"Thousands of dollars; I didn't compute the exact amount."

"From whom did you win it?"

"I won it, sir, from gentlemen."

"Who were they, and when, colonel?"

"None of your business."

Thus politely ended the taking of a deposition when it."

DIFFERENCES ADJUSTED.

DIFFERENCES ADJUSTED.

No sooner had the trial begun yesterday, however, than a compromise was agreed upon and no more is the unnatural father to persecute his daughter in the courts.

A stipulation was filed in the case, as follows: "They mutually agree to bring no action, each against the other, relative to any matters pertaining directly or indirectly to the estate of Mary T. Duncan, or against each personally, or in their representative capacities for any existing claim." This agreement is reached in consideration that Mrs. Lewis will pay her father $177 in full of a replevin suit now pending and will permit him to have judgment in the suit on trial yesterday, and that he will deliver to her her mother's work table and guarantee the return to her of her mother's watch, if she be living, at his death, and will not appeal the recent probate of the will of Mary T. Duncan.

W. F. Fitzgerald, Esq., and Messrs. Anderson & Anderson are the attorneys for Mrs. Lewis, while D. Allen, Esq., is counsel for the buzzy B.

HOW YOU BEHAVE.

Jocular as you may be on the street, your conduct at home may be that of a cannibálistic tyrant.

Such was the observation of Judge Allen yesterday during the trial of the livorce suit begun by Isabella Pashke against Joseph Pashke on the ground of extreme cruelty. The parties to the action are residents of San Pedro and the defendant is a salior. Mrs. Pashke told the court an awful tale of woe as to how her husband treated her in their home. Once he told her she was "too darned lazy for anything," and another time he took occasion to assert loudly that "she would go crazy, as all French people do." And occasionally he would vary such passing remarks as the above by telling her that she was too extravagant.

But when he was real hard up for something interesting to say, according to the wife's testimony, he would threaten to kill her and their baby, which dire slaughter was always thwarted by her copious tears. But there was one time that the little woman can never forget, she says; that Prior Carpinteria comes the query of what to do with the olive, and a suggestion that may be worth the trial. "A large crop of olives is reported for Southern California," writes O. N. A committee of perhaps twenty-one members will be appointed tomorrow morning by the officers of tree-promoting association. Simeeting last Friday a number the meeting last Friday a number of effective workers in any cause they un-dertake have signified their willing-ness to do active work upon that com-mittee. As soon as the members are chosen and notified of their appoint-ment another meeting of the associa-tion will be held which will no doubt adopt a plan of procedure in accord-ance with the spirit of the first meet-ing.

The scope of the association may cover a much wider range than the mere discussion of best varieties, methods of disinfection and kindred topics. This will be decided as soon as possible by the membership, I hope, so the committeemen may go to work in earnest to promote an interest in highway adornment in every section of Southern California.

In early summer a number of fruit growers on Central avenue, Los Angeles, became alarmed at the ravages of an imported fungus disease that had destroyed several scores of deciduous trees, and killed a section of pepper trees along the avenue. The malady was transmitted underground from root contact and had destroyed everything in its path excepting citrus trees. The owners of the infected orchards were induced to surround the diseased territory with a deep trench, cutting all the feeding roots that might transmit the fungus to new ground. An examination of the premises five months after the trenches were made shows that the precaution was effective, as no trees outside the trochashow the least inclination to wither. In fact, the diseased trees have been prevented from infecting any new territory. Within the trenched area the disease is still at work. It would many from this experience that the only virulent root-fungus that has ever been introduced here may be controlled and finally killed out by the cutting of all roots leading into non-infected ground. One peculiarity of this attack upon the trees on Central avenue is that trees affected die so quickly that no fungicide can be applied in time to check it, the trees withering up in a few hours after the withering up in a few hours after the vegetable cancer begins to ramify the roots.

Destructive Traction. A new problem may soon confront the road makers of Southern Califor-nia. The new agricultural engines now being introduced are too heavy for the otherwise serviceable clay-built roads of the country. I noticed in one case where a heavy steam en-gine had gone over an artificial road that the great corrugated wheels four that the great corrugated wheels four feet in width had herring-boned the ribune Review. I acknowledge the receipt of a series of photographs from C. L. Northeraft of Pomona, fliustrating the method of extracting orchard trees by the machinery described in one of the "notes" two weeks ago. The Pomona people are engaging actively in the eradication of the poor, neglected orchards about town. Over a dozen plots are haing treated by this heroic process about town. Over a dozen plots are being treated by this heroic process at present, and other orchards will be uprooted as soon as the authorities can reach them. In this work the Pomona Board of Trade is expected to render valuable assistance. At Alhambra the local improvement club will engage in the work of cleaning up unsightly or abandoned orchards, and altogether, the outlook is fair for the final disappearance of these old fruit trees. A number of communities, especially of those devoted to citrus culture, are not disgraced with a single poor tree, and only the shade trees remain in condition to disfigure the landscape.

Those contemplating the removal of useless orchard trees should provide themselves with a rig similar to the outfit pictured in the photographs from outft pictured in the photographs from Pomona. The work can be done at nominal cost, and the ground is left in good condition, with but slight depressions where the trees stood before extraction. By another year there will be few of these old orchards left, but it is worth while to provide the most conomic means of removal. The Pomona outfit certainly gives the most satisfactory results of any yet tried.

trust and the fruit should be care the first should be kept in sacks like grain until time and opportunity comes to work them up."

The Gasette scores the authors of this questionable plan of boosting the anti-beet combine. Until the adjournment of Congress next year we may look for the practice of all kinds of subterfuge, through reciprocity and direct tariff reductions, to be used to disconcert the only rival the sugar subterfuge, through reciprocity and direct tariff reductions, to be used to disconcert the only rival the sugar trust has in the field. It will require constant watchfulness upon the part of western legislators, constant appeal to public opinion to sustain them, and the united opposition of the beet-growing sections in every way to prevent the Havemeyer aggregation from ruining the farmers engaged in the production of sugar beets. A saving of $85,000,000 in tariffs and the statement that this vast sum would not have to be paid by the sugar consumers were Cuban sugar admitted free, is a tempting morsel to offer to those who do not know how the trusts sugar-coat their pills. That eighty-five millions would largely find lodgment in the aiready plethoric pockets of the trust manipulators. Those who know what the beet industry brings in revenues to California need no incentive to be up and doing to circumvent the Havemeyer crowd.

Hall os Oranges.

Hall on Oranges.

Hall on Oranges.

At the last meeting of the Nurserymen and Florist's Association, beld in Los Angeles on the 11th instant, W. G. Hall of Glendora read a paper upon the orange, in which he takes the ground that the Washington navel and the Valencia Late are the only varieties which growers are now considering. The former, under proper care, will produce the average of one box to ach tree by the fifth year of its planting. The Valencia does not begin bearing so early, but at five years of age it will equal the navel in productiveness. From the fifth year it surpasses the navel, and by its twelfth should bear ten boxes to the tree. Mr. Hall cited one case where one acre of Valencia had yielded over $1100 worth of truit.

No crop in the world responds so well to good care and attention as the orange. Excellence in quality universally brings success, and the requisites of quality are proper cultivation, irrigation, pruning and fertilization. Southern California will be prepared in a few years to supply the markets every month in the year with oranges.

Mr. Hall's namer treated of the trans.

portation question, giving statistics upon the revenue the railroads derived from the orange business, and advocating a reduction in freight rates. He cited the cranberry industry as a case where the demand increased faster than the supply, in spite of the militions invested in cranberry culture in all localities where the fruit would grow. With smaller profits to the grower and a reduction in freight rates, the writer predicted that orange culture would never be overdone in this country. The paper was discussed by a number of the members, and many interesting facts brought out concerning the latest phases of orange culture.

F. R. Miner of Glendale asks if the red spider will cause the leaves of orange trees to fall. There is nothing that will cause it so quickly. The leaves usually fall before they have time to turn yellow, the mites puncturing them so thoroughly that the leaf withers and disappears. The late rains did not desiroy this insect, but cause the ing them so thoroughly that the leaf withers and disappears. The late rains did not destroy this insect, but gave it a decided check. As many of Mr. Miner's trees are now in bloom, that is evidence that irrigation has been irregular, or perhaps insufficient. Gophers, perhaps, in individual cases, but the orchardist can determine whether that pest is abroad. This little animal destroys thousands of orange trees every season. At Covina the growers have agreed in one neighborhood to pursue the gopher individually till he is done for. He has ceased from troubling. Polson, traps, cats—use every means, and make a neighborhood killing Rerosene is not a practical remedy in large orchards, nor will it drive them out where vegetation is plentiful. Give them a hard summer campaign, those not destroyed this winter, and you may entirely eradicate the pest when roots not destroyed this winter, and you may entirely eradicate the pest when roots are scarce, and the gophers have to eat trap bait and poisoned food. Commercial fertilizers should be used on your orchard. I have seen it and know its condition. And do not spare barnyard manures. We are told that too much fertilizer has been used in the orange-growing centers. Hardly possible had each year's dressing had enough irrigation or rainfall to assimilate it immediately. In hundreds of orchards the rainfall of last winter and the abundant irrigation of last summer found two or three applications of the abundant irrigation or isst sum-mer found two or three applications of fertilizer awaiting them. It is little wonder the average trees all went to wood growth last year, with all this stimulation coming in one season.

The Florida White Fly.

As an example of what would befall California citrus fruit growers should the white fly get a hold upon their orchards. I note what the Florida Agriculturist says about the efforts of the Palmetto orchardists to control this insert. Last winter Prof. Woodworth was sent to Florida to give the growers there some lessons in practical fumigation. He succeeded in destroying the pest and all its eggs upon the trees treated, but as soon as a new grop of the fly was on the wing the disinfected the fly was on the wing the disinfected trees soon became covered with the broods hatched upon adjoining orchards. To think of this is enough to put California growers upon the alert. No quarantine is too severe in dealing with this class of winged infection. In this line it may be interesting to know that the leading importer of Florida trees into Los Angeles county now approves the ordinance that destroyed his business, and was man enough to express his approval to the Herticultural business, and was man enough to ex-press his approval to the Horticultural

When the froth over the grape vine quarantine subsides public opinion upon that part of the Supervisors' ordinance will be found in approval. There is a way provided by which any vine-yardist may provide himself with resistant vines from the north, or from any other point, but it does not allow an open door such as was in evidence when some of our worst pests were brought in. No one outside of those who are suffering, and the authorities who are fighting to relieve them from the pest of the purple scale can realize

FRUIT INTERESTS.

Carroll B. Smith of Redlands sends The Times the most clear-cut and reasonable explanation of the cause of oranges.

"(1.) Splitting commences at the time of year when fruit is about to turn.

"(2.) The most splits are on the south and southwest side of tree.

"(3.) The splitting starts, and rind is thinest, at the blossom end.

"(4.) After an orange is once split the skin cannot be pressed together again without breaking the flesh of the fruit.

well ripse first.

"To state this fact in another way: The evidence of assimilation is the presence of chlorophyll or green coloring matter of leaves, stems, and rind of fruit. Now when fruit begins to color the green disappears, or what is the same thing, assimilation ceases. When assimilation ceases so does growth. The navel remaining green long after assimilation and growth have ceased in the rind show that growth is continuing on the inside and the rind begins to lose the green color. Growth is evidently less rapid there than in the fleshy parts. There is a check, partial or complete, in the growth of the rind, but less of a check, partial or complete, in the growth of the rind, but less of a check fany in the fleshy parts. This is evidenced again by the fact that fruit once split cannot be pressed together again without displacing some juice or flesh. The development of the rind certainly does not keep pace with the growth of the fleshy parts when conc it is sulit. Of course the edges of split rind turn yellow most rapidly and we would expect growth to cease there, but in a new split on an orange quite green, edges and all, you cannot press the open part together.

"If chlorophyll is the evidence of assimilation (this seems to be a fixed rule in the blology of plants) and the navel remains a deep green while the rind shows partial (oloring or light green, it certainly looks like unequal growth in the parts. The part which has ceased to grow must give way to the other.

The Washington navel is a visorous grower and feeder and will have more sail fruit than St. Michaels, Mediterranean sweets or seedlings. Old tooks hadded weets about the greatest most splits. The Washington navel is a vigorous grower and feeder and will have more sol't fruit than St. Michaels. Mediternanean sweets or seedlings. Old stocks budded over show the greatest number of split fruit in the first few crops. This is because the root or feeding power of the tree is large in proportion to the "head" it has to feed. The vitality of that tree is exceptional and growth persistent. Young stock on virgin roiss also has exceptional and growth persistent. Young stock on virgin roiss also has exceptional vitality, and the first crops will have a large proportion of split fruit. "Now as to the cause: Suppose that about the time fruit is well developed and ready to turn. the weather has been warm and all conditions favorable to growing, there comes a cold night and day, so that growth receives its first cheek, will not this show at the extremities first? The weather has not been cold enough, we will suppose, to chill the earth and sap. The fruit being ready, may turn, this lessens assimilation and growth in the rind. The carth is still warm and sap has not been chilled so growth may continue with linide parts. This would cause splitting. Such a condition might be repeated. Growing weather might alternate with checking weather several times so that fruit developing a week or two later would be caught and splitting would be excessive. If the whole tree could be put in dormant condition at once when fruit is ready to turn there would be not in dormant condition at once when fruit is ready to turn there would he not get the best of care, carrying a full load of fruit, apparently healthy, and not have a split orange. This might be because the tree has not the same persistent growth and vitality; the earth is not as warm, being uncultivated, so when the first check comes the whole tree is ready to stop growing.

"Buch I believe to be a cause. Let it be conclusively established or refuted and the remedy will be a matter for further thought and investigation."

secure employment, Mrs. Maud McGill tried to end her life yesterday morning by inhaling illuminating gas in her room at the Feerless loging-house, No. 4534 South Spring street. She made careful preparations to end her life, having packed her trunk and written a note to her sister, who lives in lowa. She had fastened a long section of rubber tubing to the gas jet, moved her bed under the gas fixture, and turned on the gan. Then she piaced herself on the bed, and took the end of the rubber tube in her mouth. The day before she had applied for work at the Feople's restaurant, on the ground floor of the house in which she lives, but as there was no vacancy she did not secure a place. She was told to return yesterday morning, as one of the waitresses was sick, and if she did not work yesterday the place would be given to the applicant. The fact that the waitress did not return to work yesterday morning probably saved the life of the unfortunate woman. William Romer went to her room to tell her she could go to work, but he received no response to repeated knocking at the door. He detected the odor gas, and called the landiady. Mrs. McGill was found unconscious. Dr. Garrison was called, and after an hour's work restored her to consciousness. In half an hour she would have been dead.

City in Her Famous Success of "Romeo and Juliet."

Owing to the fact that there was some question in this city concerning the production of ."Manon Lescaut" by Sybil Sanderson and the Grau Opera Company in San Francisco, the local representative met Grau's manager in Santa Barbara last night and made arrangements by which the Los Angeles production is to be changed, substituting Sanderson's success of "Romeo and Juliet" for "Manon."

When given in San Prancisco, all of the unpleasant memories connected with the recent production of "Manon was effaced and the San Francisco press united in claiming that Sybil Sanderson is the best "Juliet" that ever appeared there, and that the Grau production with her in the title role this season, was far ahead of the Melba production last year.

At an added expense Grau has made this change to please the people of Los Angeles, and on Tuesday evening. December 2, there will be presented in this city what is claimed to be the most magnificent production of the opera of "Romeo and Juliet" that the southern metropolis has ever witnessed.

Grau is to bring his entire production intact to this city, and will present Mme. Sanderson, supported by the same cast as given in San Francisco, with the exception of two changes for better artists in minor parts.

VERDICT AGAINST THE SALOON.

SIOUX FALLS (S. D.) Nov. 21,—A

Jury awarded Mary Garrigan a verdict of $1800 damages against Samuel Kennedy, a saloon-keeper, for selling liquor to her husband. Evidence was introduced to show that Garrigan became intoxicated on liquor bought of Kennedy, and that he later committed suicide. Mrs. Garrigan has similar suits pending against two other liquor dealers. This is the first conviction under the new license law prohibiting the sale of liquor to incbriates.

VERDICT AGAINST THE SALOON.

A DOCTOR'S DICTUM.

THE traveling men about town had a good laugh on two of their number yesterday. One of the city's physicians was mixed up in the joke, and was very mad about it for a while. So exciting was the fun that it was reported to a policeman, and the officers came near taking part in it. Indeed, it really looked like a criminal case for a while to the parties concerned. It was all about a horse and buggy. Besides the horse and buggy, the principals in the case were C. C. Brooks and Ben Schloss, San Francisco commercial men, and Dr. P. Newmark.

Dr. Newmark is proud of his fine horse and buggy. Yesterday he suspended his coursing down Spring street long enough to tie up in front of the Nadeau and step into an adjoining store.

Brooks and Schloss had telephoned for a livery rig to take them on their business calls about town. About the time Dr. Newmark t ed up in front they began to grow impatient. They took another survey from the hotel entrance. "Ah," quoth Ben. spring the jaunty rig, "we're fixed;" And straightway they gathered up their ramples and clapped whip to the doctor's nag. Innocently they drove and kept driving, until they were afar off.

In due time Dr. Newmark sought his rig and found it not. Horror of horrors, the pretty outfit had been stolen! A DOCTOR'S DICTUM.

An eminent physician in a lecture to medical students, said in substance, "When you are called on by a sick person the first examination must be directed to the stomach." Just as the mechanic knows the power's off when the machinery stops, so the physician when he sees a man weak, tired, and helpless, knows the power is off. The food the fhan eats is not being converted into mutrition. When food is digested, assimilated and converted into nutrition it must strengthen the body. When the body is weak, deficient in vitality and body is weak, deficient in vitality and vigor, it must be because it is insufficiently nourished, either from lack of food or because the food eaten is not digested and converted into nutrition. Popularly and generally this condition is described as "weak stomach," or "stomach trouble," When you have related the weak physical condition to the "weak" stomach and the "run-down" condition to Pierce, Buffalo, N. When the Power is Off What Happens?

Every factory worker and mechanic knows what happens when the power is off. Everything stops. The machinery is idle. If a mechanic were taken into a factory and saw the machinery silent and motionless he'd know at once that the power was off. When you shut off the power from a plant you shut off its activity.

slowed down if not altogether stopped, there is something wrong with the power plant of the body includes the stomach and its associated organs of digestion and nutrition. All physical strength is derived from food digested and converted into nutrition. Nutrition is the power which runs the body. When nutrition fails the body fails. The chemical changes by which food is converted into nutrition take place in the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts. When the stomach is diseased, the nutrition is reduced and the body's power is reduced in proportion.

Thrilling Ride in Runaway Car-Barber Barnhardt's Cruel Fate.

The eighth death among the victims of Wednesday Morning's wreck on the Santa Fé near Franconia, Ariz., occurred yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, when Conductor R. R. Higgins of No. 3, the west-bound train, passed away at the Sisters' Hospital in this city. His wife and other members of his family were at his bedside when he breathed his last. Higgins's home was in San Francisco, and his remains probably will be taken there for burial. Early yesterday morning the charred remains of the missing men. W. L. Armitage and W. L. Case, firemen on train No. 4, and Samuel Brown, negrowaiter on No. 3, were found in the debris. Armitage's body was identified through some trinkets which were on his person, but it was impossible to make absolute identification of the bodies of Case and Brown, so badly were they burned and disfigured. It was William L. Armitage of San Bernardino who was killed, and his prother. W. H. Armitage identified his dino who was killed, and his ther, W. H. Armitage, identified his ductor and engineer of No. 3, the west-bound train, overlooked an order which gave the east-bound train, No. 4, until a certain time to reach Franconia. The west-bound train was running two hours behind its schedule, but when it passed Franconia, it is said, it was but an hour and fity minutes late. When the collision occurred, two miles west of Franconia, the east-bound train still had five himutes in which to make the run to Franconia, where, according to its orders, it was to pass No. 3, and, as it was running at a high rate of speed with two engines, it undoubtedly would have made the meeting point in the time allotted. The train order rules of the Santa Fe require that the conductor and engineer of each train shall have a copy of orders issued by the train dispatcher respecting their train. The conductor and engineer of each train shall have a copy of orders issued by the train dispatcher respecting their train. The conductor and engineer are expected to read and understand the orders before proceeding, and it is stipulated further that the fireman and brakemen of each train shall read the orders when the should have stopped there, the entire crew of that train must have suffered a lapse of mind. Conductor Iliggins and Fireman Goldsmith of No. 3 are dead, and the engineer of that train, J. R. Williams, is at the Sisters' Hospital, severely socided and bruised. The blame for the accident will be placed by the railroad officers when they hold their customary investigation.

RUNAWAY CAR'S FAST DASH. Soon after the wreck occurred some minjured trainmen and a number of assengers who were not engaged in Soon after the wreck occurred some uninjured trainmen and a number of passengers who were not engaged in rescuing the wounded from positions of peril, turned their efforts toward protecting some of the cars of No. 4 from damage from the face fire whick was raging. The observation car, which was on the rear of the east-bound train, was uncoupled from the train and was moved slowly back to a point where it would be safe. In the car were two or three injured trainmen and several passengers. It was expected to stop the car at the desired point by the use of the hand brakes, but when the man at the brake wheel gave it a turn he found that the chain connecting with the brake rod was broken and that the brake was useless. As the track was down grade the car had gained considerable mementum before this difficulty was discovered.

two ladies and several men who were unable to alight in safety. Every minute the speed of the car increased, and they found themselves confronted with serious injury by jumping and a horrible uncertainty as to their fate should they remain in their swiftly-moving prison.

Faster and faster the heavy car shot down the grade, its occupants with blanched faces and chattering teeth, luckily escaped from the horrors of the wreck, now confronted by a calamity equally as serious should their car jump the track or collide with an east-bound train. The telegraph poles shot by, appearing in their continuity almost as a picket fence, dotted at frequent intervals with mileposts or with shastly white whistling posts and road-crossing signs.

quent intervals with mileposts or with ghastly white whistling posts and road-crossing signs.

Swifter than the fastest express train the lone car sped down the steep grade, switches were crossed at perilous speed, dangerous curves were rounded with one side of the car in the air, and finally, way down at the bottom of the grade the dim outlines of the long bridge across the Colorado River could be discerned. Then a prayer went up for rescue, as it was almost certain that the car must jump the track and dash to destruction in the river bed. Luckily, though, the bridge was crossed with a whirr and in safety, and the saving upgrade on the west side of the river checked the car's momentum, and, after a run of about twelve miles, which was covered in nearly haif as many minutes, the rolling coach came to a stop. A wrecking train on the way to the scene of the accident coupled onto the car soon afterward and shoved it back up the long grade.

BARNHARDT'S SAD DEATH.

BARNHARDT'S SAD DEATH. W. A. Wells, who was in charge of the composite car on the east-bound train, and whose narrow escape from death was related in yesterday's Times, told of the sad death of H. E. Barnhardt, who had charge of the composite car of the west-bound train. Barnhardt was caught in the wreckage, and before he could be released he had been burned so severely that the flesh fell from his bones. Wells was with Barnhardt when he died, and, took from him a last message to his young wife at Quincy, Ill., to whom he had been married but recently. By one of those sad fatalities which so often overtake railroad men, Barnhardt was making his first trip of the season, and had it not been for the illness of Ed Accardi, the regular man, Barnhardt would not have gone to work for some time. For the first time in five years, however, Accardi was unable to go out on his regular run from Chicago when the ill-fated No. 3 left that city, and Barnhardt was impressed into service, only to be returned to his home a corpse.

MAIL DESTROYED.

A few packages of letters—about half a sackful—that were saved from the wreck of the west-bound Santa Fe Limited have reached the local post-office. They make a sad little showing, for the fat pouchfuls which started this way; many of them are scorched and unrecognizable. All day yesterday the postoffice officials were overrun with anxious inquirers who thought they had sent letters by one of the unfortunate trains, and wanted to know whether they had or not, as if the poor postoffice folks knew all about it.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. G. W. White, and was fittingly responded to by Mrs. L. P. Stevens. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read, showing the affairs of the society to be in a flourishing condition. An interesting address, "Work Among the Mountaineera," was delivered by Mrs. B. W. Gorham. This afternoon the devotions were led by Mrs. T. C. Miller. Mrs. Marguerite Tripp spoke upon "Spanish Work." The reports of the auxiliary work done in this district were read by delegates. The Oriental Home in San Francisco was considered at length, and Mrs. A. A. Graves spoke on the subject, "How Shall We Interest the Boys and Girls in Home Missionary Work?" This evening the praise service was led by Rev. Dr. G. W. White. The two principal addresses were by Mrs. F. Brush and Miss Carrie Phillips.

GREAT LUMBER TRAFFIC.

SAN PEDRO, Nov. tl.—(From The Times' Correspondent.] According to an estimate made by one of the local lumber men today lumber is being shipped out of San Pedro at the rate of 10,000,000 feet per month. A large part of that quantity goes to Los Angeles to supply the immense demand for building purposes. There is also an unusual demand for lumber for the mines of Arisona. A number of large mining plants which have been idle or only in partial operation are now in full swing, and great quantities of lumber are required for timbering and planking the shafts and tunnels.

LONG BEACH, Nov. II.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] A gang of twenty men commenced laying railway tracks this morning on Descanso street north and south of Second street. The work was extended about eight rail lengths in each direction. One of the electric-railway franchises recently granted by the City Trustees and afterward absorbed by H. E. While there appears to be no positive evidence showing who is the author of today's track-laying operations, they are generally credited to the owner of the franchises recently granted here. Some of the citizens think the work is being done with a view to shutting out the projected railway lines from Santa Ana. The route proposed for the entry of at least one of those lines into the city is by way of Second street. Citrus Growers Consult With Senator Bard on the Subject of Protecting Local Industries.

A joint meeting of the Citrus Growers' Tariff Committee and the Anti-Reciprocity Committee of the Chamber of Commerce was called yesterday for the special purpose of talking with Senator Bard upon the reciprocity dangers which the citrus growers believe are threatening California. Benator Bard went over the matter with the committees. It was decided to favor a reciprocity treaty founded on the non-competing basis—a treaty that would allow the entry of things not produced in the home field, but absolutely protect local industry.

"We must be careful not to antagonize foreign countries in this matter," said F. Q. Story, president of the Semi-Tropic Fruit Exchange. "The administration is undoubtedly being threatened with retailation by other countries if aggressive measures against their goods are taken, and it would injure our cause to creat such a stir at present. There are several reasons that make us feel that we are in immediate danger from reciprocity. The manufacturers of the Central and Eastern States are trying hard to get such a thing passed, so that they can get their goods into foreign countries more eastily. The chambers of commerce of such stiles as Boston, Detroit and Cleveland. "We declared themselves in favor of reciprocity and have arranged a meeting in Washington to further it. The bishop seemed very happy through it all, and received the congratulations of the members of Christ Church parish in the pleasantest possigratulations or the memors of chrise, Church parish in the pleasantest possible manner.

It was the "bishop's reception" at the hands of the parish, and Ebell Hall was crowded with joyous people, and dressed in ferns and paims for the occasion. An orchestra was present to enliven the event with music, and charming wocal numbers were given by Mrs. Ernest Northcote, J. C. Mc-Clure and F. D. Carr.

Dr. George Thomas Dowling, rector of Christ Church, acting as chief host, skilifully kept things moving in a cheerful fashion, and everybody seemingly imbibed some of the spirit.

The order may not have been given to "move on," but that's the kind of a "hold up" it was. Everybody kept moving, and talking to everybody else, and thus the social feature was a humming success. It was the spirit of G. T. D.

There was something else in the air to inspire people, toward the close of the evening. It permeated the atmosphere, and was delightfully suggestive. It was "O. G. J." which occupied its wonted position at the foot of the menu.

M AIN-STREET FIRE'S ORIGIN HERE'S

TOTAL LOSS ABOUT A HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Good Work of Firemen Praised by Officers of Burned-out Drug Concern

The loss caused by the fire at the Western Wholesale Drug Company's establishment, Nos. 254-258 South Main street, yesterday morning, will amount to about $100,000. This includes everything burned or damaged by water, and the estimate was made after a careful daylight inspection of the ruined build-ing. The actual loss is therefore about the estimate published in The Times yesterday.

In spite of the highly-inflammable

yesterday.

In spite of the highly-inflammable character of the contents, the fact that the building was an old structure, which burned rapidly, and the difficulties of fighting amid the deadly fumes of burning chemicals, the fire department did excellent work in saving what it did. Notwithstanding the heavy loss they suffered, the officers of the drug company were loud in their praises of the Chief and his men.

In the rear of the main room of the establishment which are the offices, were two long and comparatively narrow sections of the building. In one the orders of the company were filed, and here was kept an assorted stock. The other narrow section is a wareroom, and it is filled almost to the roof with boxes of proprietary medicines, much very costly, and other materials which would have caused the fire to spread beyond all control had it reached this room. Between the two sections is a brick wall, but both sections were under the same roof. In the order room the fire made a clean sweep, leaving only pieces of tin to show what had been the roof. By directing half a dosen streams there the firemen saved practically all the contents of the storeroom adjoining, and yesterday it was found that this part of the establishment sustained practically no damage. Only a little water leaked through the roof, but this fell upon goods securely packed in wooden cases, and did not injure the contents.

All the goods on the second floor of the building were burned, but these goods were nearly all of a kind easily replaced, and in which the loss was not as great as at other points in the store.

The front office was not touched by the fire, and had it not been for the replaced, and in which the loss was not as great as at other points in the store.

The front office was not touched by the fire, and had it not been for the tons of water poured into the upper floor of the building this part of the store would have been damaged only by smoke, and the loss would not have been heavy. In the front office, however, were stored goods which, as soon as water struck them, became practically valueless. A careful inspection of that stock will not be made until the insurance adjusters begin their work, but it is thought there will be comparatively little salvage there.

"We place our total loss at about $75,000," said L. D. Sale, vice-president of the company, yesterday afternoon. "We are by no means discouraged, however, and the first thing we did this morning was to telegraph East for an entirely new stock. That will be shipped to us as quickly as possible. A large part of it will come by express. We will reopen the store and be ready for business in a short time, and now we are only awaiting the action of the insurance companies before beginning the work of making repairs. In the Beantime we have made arrangements to have all of our orders promptly filled.

"The fire might have been much more serious than it was, and we have only praise for the work done by the fire

"The fire might have been much more serious than it was, and we have only praise for the work done by the fire department. Our stock was valued at between $150,000 and $1300,000, and we consider that more than half of it was destroyed. We, therefore, think that when we place the loss at $75,000 the estimate is a conservative one. The total insurance is something like $100,000."

The insurance on the stock of the Western Wholesale Drug Company is divided among ten companies, as follows:

Hamburg-Bremen $5,000 Queen $2,500 London 10,000 German-American $5,000 American of Pennsylvania $5,000 Scottish Union and National and New Zesland

INDUSTRIAL BETTERMENT.

Dr. Tollman Tells What is Being Don

Line.

Dr. William H. Tollman, secretary of the Industrial Betterment Speiety of New York, delivered a lacture last alight before a small audience in Eliss' Hall on the great problems that face capital and labor. He has been touring the country in the interest of the social and industrial betterment of the laborers in great factories, and to suggest to employers different ways by which to improve the lot of their hands. The Industrial Betterment Society was formed for this purpose, and is seeking, through these lectures, to interest the business men of the whole country in the work. The expenses of the lecture in this city were met by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

'Dr. Tollman illustrated his talk with exceptionally handsome stereopticon pictures of the great commercial organizations of the world where the employes have been given the first consideration by the management. The views included some of the large coal mines of France, the Cadbury confection works near Birmingham, England; the Krupp steel plant of Germany, the Sherwin-Williams paint factory at Cleveland, Heins pickling establishment of Pittsburgh, National Cash Register Company of Dayton, O., and the great dairy farms along the Hudson. The wonderful consideration which these firms show for their employes and the canveniences for life and work which they have provided for them, are very gratifying from a human standpoint, and have proved to be of practical worth to the employer.

The point of Dr. Tollman's argument was that with these considerations and opportunities for contented life, friction between capital and labor is practically eliminated and costly strikes are made impossible. He laid special stress upon the care which large employers are beginning to take in the feeding of their rank and file, pointing out that the captains of war have always laid the first importance upon their commissary department, while the captains of industry have ignored the fact that the well-fed man is worth twice as much as the hungry man.
